Train-Pedestrian Fatality Accident

On July 28, 2015 at approximately 12:15 a.m. the Livingston Police Department was notified of a train accident near the crossing of West Street off of North Washington Ave. Upon Officers arrival to the area they noticed a Union Pacific train stopped at the West Street crossing that had been traveling southbound. Upon further investigation the train engineer and conductor observed a white male standing on the tracks and ignored the warning of the approaching train and horn. The investigation found that the white male was struck by the train and was later pronounced deceased on the scene by Justice of the Peace Darrell Longino. The white male has been positively identified as Jesse Clark Duncan(75) of Missouri. The accident is still under investigation by the Livingston Police Department and is pending autopsy results.
